

Dear Federal Communications Commission,
Please do not let the National Association of Broadcasters infringe on the rights of subscribers to satellite radio. That's exactly what will happen if you allow the NAB to stop satellite radio providers from broadcasting local weather reports, news. etc. It would be beyond belief for the FCC to stifle competition in this manner. Satellite radio is growing because the people want it. We're fed up with so-called local radio stations that are owned by corporate outsiders who do not have the benefit of the communities they serve in mind.

Sincerely,

Ben Gish
